DETAILED ACTION

Amendment filed on 4-13-05 has been received and entered in the case. The rejections set forth in the previous Office Action are maintained as indicated below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, the limitation “a plurality of periods in the output of each reference clock to generate a plurality of output clocks”, lines 6-7, is unclear since it is not known if “a plurality of output clocks” is derived from “periods of a single reference clock” or “each single reference clock” provides “a corresponding output clock”. Further, the limitation “each period of the second frequency being equal to the plurality of periods utilized in the output of one of the reference clocks” does not provide a clear meaningful sense since there is no means to quantify “a period” to “the plurality of periods”. Examiner believes Applicant intended to recite “each period of the second frequency being equal to the sum of the plurality of periods utilized in the output... clocks”. Lastly, the limitation “a plurality of reference...from other reference clocks”, lines 4-5, has nothing to do with the rest of the recitation of claim. In other words, there is no structural and/or functional relationship between this limitation and other limitation of the claim.

Art Unit: 2816

In claim 5, the limitation “the first phase difference”, line 2, does not have a clear antecedent basis. It is noted that “a first phase” limitation of claim 1 refers to a signal derived from reference clocks wherein “the first phase difference” of claim 5 refers to reference clock.

In claim 10, the limitation “the two corresponding output clocks”, line 8, lacks antecedent basis.

In claim 17, the limitation “generating a first reference clock having a frequency... substantially equal to an integer multiple of a reference period of the first reference clock”, lines 4-7, does not make a clear sense since it is impossible to have a single clock signal having a frequency higher than its own frequency.

Claims 18-19 are rejected for containing a negative limitation. A negative limitation renders the claim indefinite because it is an attempt to claim the invention by excluding what the inventors did not invent rather than distinctly and particularly pointing out what they did invent. In re Schecter, 98 USPQ 144 (CCPA 1953).

The rest of claims are rejected for being dependent on the rejected claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1, 10 and 17, as best understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by the Scott et al reference (U.S. Patent 6,369,661).

Art Unit: 2816

Scott et al discloses in figures 6 and 7 an apparatus for generating two output clocks (out1+ and out1-) of the same frequency with a predetermined phase difference between each other comprising a clock generator 608 for generating two reference clocks (out1+ and out1-) having the same frequency and being higher than the input clock 609 of the clock generator, the two reference clocks having a predetermined reference phase difference between each other (i.e., differential); and a phase interpolator 610 for generating two corresponding output clocks (output of 612) as required by claim 10.

Claim 10 and 17 are rejected for reciting method/steps derived from the apparatus of claim 10 that is rejected as noted above.

Given the great arrangement of confusion and uncertainty as to the proper interpretation of the limitations of claims, it would not be proper to reject claims 2-9,11-16 and 18-22 on the basis of prior art given at this point of prosecution. MPEP 2173.06 states:

“...where there is a great deal of confusion and uncertainty as to the proper interpretation of the limitations of a claim, it would not be proper to reject such a claim on the basis of prior art. As stated in In re Steele, 305 F.2d 859, 134 USPQ 292 (CCPA 1962), a rejection under 35 USC 103 should not be based on considerable speculation about the meaning of terms employed in a claim or assumptions that must be made as to the scope of the claims.”

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
